1. Data Controller and Data Protection

Officer Foster Fine Art Portraits (see the beginning of the Privacy Policy) is the Data Controller in connection with the processing of all personal data via the Website.

If you would like to contact the Foster Fine Art Portraits Data Protection Office, you can do so here: www.fosterfineartportraits.com

2. Personal

Information Processed When you use the Website, Foster Fine Art Portraits collects and processes data relating to you (as a person) that identifies you, either alone or together with other information that has already been collected. Foster Fine Art Portraits can also collect and process data about others when you provide these Foster Fine Art Portraits.

This information is referred to as " Personal Information " and may be collected by Foster Fine Art Portraits if you provide it voluntarily (eg by subscribing to the newsletter, or using Foster Fine Art Portraits services) or simply by analyzing your behavior the website.

Personal data that Foster Fine Art Portraits may process through the Website are:

A. Name, contact details and other personal information

In various areas of the Website - especially when you create an account on the Website - you are asked to provide information such as name, telephone / mobile number, email address, date of birth, country of residence, address, etc to indicate. If you register for certain services, you may also be asked for your preferred method of payment - PayPal, bank transfer, or credit card.

In addition, if you participate in surveys or other promotions on the Site, or if you communicate with Foster Fine Art Portraits through the contact information provided on the Site or Customer Service, you may be required to collect additional information that you provide.

B. Job applications

If you register to apply for a job on the website, you will be asked to provide a variety of personal information, such as employment information (eg CV, cover letter, professional qualifications, expectations and desired job, earliest possible entry, URLs etc.). The personal information you provide for this purpose will be processed by Foster Fine Art Portraits in accordance with the Privacy Policy published there.

C. Special categories of personal information

In certain areas of the website (such as the invitation request form), there are free text fields that you can use to provide Foster Fine Art Portraits with information or requests. Here also personal data can be entered.

As far as these text boxes are editable without any prescriptions, you could also (by mistake or intentionally) enter more sensitive personal information, such as data that allows for inferences about ethnicity, political opinions, religious or philosophical beliefs, or membership in a union. The content you upload through these text boxes may also (by mistake or intentionally) contain sensitive information about you, such as genetic data, biometric data, or health, sexual or sexual orientation information.

Foster Fine Art Portraits, please do not disclose any such sensitive personal information on the website, unless you deem it absolutely necessary. Because passing on such information is purely optional, please always keep in mind that Foster Fine Art Portraits needs your explicit permission to process this type of personal information. Foster Fine Art Portraits therefore urges you to give your explicit permission to process this type of personal information if you decide to divulge it.

D. Other people's personal information

As discussed in the previous section, you will find free text boxes in certain areas of the site where you can post messages to Foster Fine Art Portraits. These communications may (by mistake or intentionally) contain other persons' personal information.

If you choose to share personal information with others, you are the independent data controller of that personal information and assume all the associated legal responsibilities and responsibilities. This implies, among other things, that you must fully indemnify Foster Fine Art Portraits for any complaints, claims or claims for damages resulting from the processing of such personal data by third parties whose personal data you have provided through the Website.

Because Foster Fine Art Portraits does not collect this type of data directly from others (but collects it indirectly from you), you must obtain permission from these individuals before you share information about them with Foster Fine Art Portraits. If you fail to do so, you must otherwise ensure that there are other reasonable grounds why you have the right to share this information with Foster Fine Art Portraits.

E. Browser data

The operation of the website, as with all websites on the Internet, involves the use of computer systems and software that collects information about the users of the website as part of routine operation. While Foster Fine Art Portraits does not collect this information in order to associate you with certain users, it is still possible to identify those users either directly through this information or through other collected data. For this reason, these data should also be considered as personal data.

These data include, for example, various characteristics of your operating system and your IT environment such as IP address, location (country), the domain name of your computer, the URI addresses (Uniform Resource Identifier) of the resources you visit the website request time, such time requirements, type of request to the server, extent of the file received upon request, the numeric code to the status of the response of the server (successful, errors, etc.) and so on.

These data are used to compile statistical information about the use of the website, to ensure correct operation and to detect errors and / or misuse of the website. Except for the latter purpose, this data will not be stored for more than 7 working days.
